

Big River Natural Species Floor

Big River quality timber flooring products have been milled from the Northern Rivers region of New South Wales for over 100 years and now part of a managed renewable hardwood plantation.

The Natural Timbers engineered flooring range remains stable through a range of harsh climatic conditions, making it ideal for most residential and commercial applications, being engineered from five cross-ply layers of hardwood sheets bonded together to form a solid, stable floorboard.

The rich warm hues of Australian eucalypt hardwoods vary from creams through yellows to pinks, reds and browns, with a colour to suit every taste and style.

These beautiful boards are sanded, sealed and coated in the factory with a high quality surface finish, ready for easy installation.
